3. For a period of six months, a Border Police recruit has the status of a Polizeianwaerter; he is then accepted for employment as a Schutzmann, with one star on the shoulder tabs as insignia of rank. Higher ranks, in ascending order, are:

Oberschutzmann, with insignia of two stars;
Kommissar, with white shoulder tabs and a silver cord on the cap;
Oberkommissar, with one star on white shoulder tabs;
Inspektor, with two stars; and
Oberinspektor or Polizeirat, with plaited shoulder straps.

The highest police rank, Ministerialrat, does not occur in the Border Police.

4. The Thuringian Border Police is under the control of the SMA. The Soviet commander for the Hauptkommandantur in Hildburghausen is a Lieutenant Colonel commanding a Russian battalion. Russian troops stationed at Kommandanturen and border Posten make up this battalion. In addition to battalion headquarters at Hildburghausen (twenty to thirty men), company headquarters (twenty to thirty men) are located at Hildburghausen, Vielsdorf and Heldburg. Lower units (numbers not given) are scattered among the border Posten.

([REDACTED] Comment:

Para 1 - Polizeirat Korrisius earlier was identified as Carfezius, Oberpolizeirat of the Schutzpolizei in Weimar and as Charisius, Commander of Thuringian Border Police; former police director in Gera; former Luftwaffe major and holder of the Ritterkreuz.)

Para 2 - Undoubtedly refers to 6th Border Police Inspectorate, Hildburghausen, earlier reported to have three kommandanturen with 15 men each, and 48 border squads, each consisting of 10 men.)
